

Moen

Green never looked so chic. Who could resist the clean, uncluttered look of the Fina single-handle lavatory faucet, especially when it surpasses LEED requirements for water efficiency indoors? Its high, arching neck and marquee-shaped spout mimic the form that water takes as it spills from natural falls. 877-663-6741; moen.com. circle 778

Rapsel

East meets West in Ufuro Vasca. Interior Design Hall of Famer Matteo Thun puts his spin on the traditional Japanese soaking tub, creating this version in water-resistant beech wood. It defines Thun's take on the eastern aesthetic: a floating world where things are soft, rounded, and organic. Through AF New York, 800-366-2284; afnewyork.com. circle 782

Ceramica Fioranese

Even heading into autumn, there are still Blooming Lines. The lovely series of ceramic wall tiles blends botanicals with graphic lines and a wavy surface to create a delicate yet modern look. The 8-by-24-inch tiles come in three patterns—Butterfly, Bloom, and Gessato, and four pastels—Canapa, Aloe, Grigioperla, and Lilla. 39-536-993511; fioranese.it. circle 781

Cifial

The WaterSense-certified Quadra 25 faucet packs high performance into a sleek design perfect for small spaces. The 6-inch-tall, single-handle lavatory faucet is eco-friendly with a low 1½-gallon-per-minute flow rate. Available in polished chrome, satin nickel, and weathered finishes. 404-270-1010; cifialusa.com. circle 780

Urban Archaeology

The Lenox Cabinet traces its lineage to Helena Rubinstein's New York apartment. Who better to perfect the bathroom cabinet than a cosmetics queen? The versatile piece's mesh door panel dazzles in a variety of finishes, including polished nickel, chrome, and brass, and green patina. Customize widths, heights, and depths. 212-431-4646; urbanarchaeology.com. circle 779
